NAVY WINNER HARD-FOUGHT GAME WITH ARMY

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN ARMY NAVY CONTEST

Annual Football Game Attracts Crowd of 50,000—Many Are Turned Away

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—In the fourth period Koehler made a touchdown and King kicked goal. Final score, Navy 7, Army 0.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Navy-Army football eleven game today in the twenty-third annual game between the West Point cadets and the Annapolis midshipmen. Fifty thousand tickets to the Polo grounds have been sold and many thousands were turned away. Secretaries Baker and Daniels headed the rival rooters, composed of generals, admirals, buck privates and gobs. General Nivelle of Verdun fame and Pershing were present.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Amid a stage setting unique and different from any other football game of the year, the Army and Navy eleven will play their annual gridiron contest at the Polo grounds here this afternoon. Other interspersed football struggles may draw greater attendance of spectators or be surrounded with greater tradition and classic atmosphere, but none approaches the battle of the eleven from the United States Naval and Military academies for martial pomp and splendor.

The marching West Point cadets and the Annapolis midshipmen, headed by blaring bands, the army mule and the navy goat present a picture entirely foreign to any other field of American football. The huge rectangular blocks of cadet gray and the sailor blue, where the rival academy cheering squads are located on opposite sides of the field supply a color scheme not matched in any football stadium in the country.

There is, in addition, a marked difference in the appearance of the spectators as a whole. Field boxes and grandstands are flecked with the gold-braided and starred uniforms of distinguished naval officers, along shoulder-to-shoulder with generals, colonels and captains of the army. In the more drab uniform of the civilian may be seen high officials from Washington diplomatic circles while filling in the background of the scene may be found thousands of plain football enthusiasts who never miss the opportunity to witness the Army-Navy game, the closing act in the gridiron drama of the year, providing they have enough influence to secure tickets from the few available sources of supply.

No Keener rivalry or harder play is ever seen in any gridiron climax in any part of the country than that displayed in the football meeting of the soldiers and sailors.

Close and exciting contests are the rule rather than the exception, and the very intensity of the series is shown by the almost equal allotment of honors after 22 years of play. Since 1890, when the initial game was staged, the army has won 11 and the navy 10, with one, that of 1905 played at Princeton, resulting in a 6-to-6 tie.

ELEVEN DIE IN FOOTBALL GAMES

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Eleven died as a result of football accidents during the season ending on Thanksgiving, or five more than last year. Most of the fatalities occurred to high school players. There were no fatalities in the big universities where the men were properly coached and uniformed. The open style of play is less hazardous than that of a dozen years ago.

TAKE TESTIMONY OF INJURED MAN

The testimony of Jack Carter, who was found lying near the McLean & McSweeney barn Thanksgiving day with his skull fractured, was taken this morning at the Mine Operators' hospital, where Carter is lying in a very serious condition. Carter directly accused George "Scotty" McSpadden, a negro, of striking him over the head with a club of some sort.

According to Carter's story, he suspected McSpadden of stealing hay and upon returning to the barn found the accused man taking hay from the manger. Before anything was said the negro struck him with a club.

Air Journey Across Pacific May Be Attempted in Spring of 1921

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 27.—The next great flying operation to engage the attention of the whole world is the crossing of the Pacific ocean, according to the Air Service News Letter, a war department publication of the information group of the army air service, issued to keep the personnel of the air service informed.

Discussing the project, the Air Service News Letter says: "Looked at from any point of view, it will be the most difficult feat attempted by aircraft, and the man who succeeds in the undertaking will have won the highest place in the annals of aeronautics." "As early as March, 1920, the Manufacturers' Aircraft association announced that the United States navy had in preparation two boats of triple engine power designed especially for trans-Pacific flying.

Guam and Manila. These jumps measure approximately as follows: San Francisco to Honolulu, 2090 miles; Honolulu to Wake island to Guam, 1320 miles; Guam to Manila, 1320 miles; Manila to Hongkong, 675 miles.

"The shortest route possible, however, would follow somewhat closely the Great Circle steamship route, and would cut the distance to approximately 3500 or 3700 nautical miles. Supposing the flier were to hop off from Victoria, his first jump would bring him to Sitka, thence next to Unimak Pass in the Aleutians and so to Yokohama.

"While the more northerly route offers the advantage in point of distance, so long as we are in the present experimental stage of knowledge as regards aeronautics, other questions suggest themselves that must be taken into consideration before a choice could be determined. The flier familiar to the Great Circle route would add to the airman's difficulties provided they extend to a very great altitude into the air lanes. It is probable, however, that fairly good visibility would extend may, to 20,000 feet above sea level from December to February, during which period the fogs are less apparent.

"In this region, also, high winds, another factor to be reckoned with in the airman's calculation, come, broadly speaking, from two main sources and operate in two different directions. A strong southeasterly wind from southern Japan sweeps up across the Pacific to the Aleutians, while from South America a gale sweeps up the coast in a north-westerly direction.

"While plans are being considered on this side for the trans-Pacific flight, from England comes the announcement that an airplane is being built for a flight from Sydney, Australia, to San Francisco. From Sydney to the Fiji islands the jump would be 1745 miles; to Honolulu, 2724 miles; thence to San Francisco, 2090 miles.

"It is reasonably safe to predict that the plane that performs the trans-Pacific flight will be larger—perhaps twice as large—as any of the N-C class which crossed the Atlantic."
